

Zen

PGP Key registered with the NSA.

If you can't trust the NSA, who can you trust?

Anarchy

There are no answers, only suggestions...

Contents

Random Thoughts	3
Bail out Bill special advertising section	4
White House productions proudly presents...	6
Party Records - for Adults Only	7
Campaign '96	8
Zen Profiles	9
End Page	10

EDITORIAL

Every once and a while, I have the feeling that I can change the world. Everyone has just had a sudden burst of understanding. Billions of light bulbs simultaneously went on all over the world. Then I read the newspaper or listen to the news and realize that people are going to stay just as stupid as they always have.

It amazes me that after all this time, people can't seem to figure out that if they want to change something, perhaps they ought to look at themselves first. Yeah, right. Like the 400 pound women in Florida are going to stop wearing bright orange polyester stretch pants to Disney World. Like Falwell will ever accept gays. Like gays will ever accept Falwell. You can't legislate intelligence, concern, or tolerance.

Wake up, people!

It's high time that someone spilled the beans on these clowns that run our lives in Washington, starting with the ringmaster himself, Bill Clinton.

Bill, start leading, or get the hell out of the way. Japan has had five, yes five, of it's prime ministers resign because of a lack of confidence on the job that they were doing. Take note... And while you're at it, tell your wife to get a designer that passed at least some courses at design school, OK? Her wardrobe is probably the most embarrassing a first lady has looked in recent history.

Now on to the rat bastards in Congress. How many people have ever stopped to think that the laws and regulations that govern our lives are in the hands of about 535 people, most of which probably haven't even read the bill that they themselves are sponsoring?

If the realization that 535 people are basically responsible for governing us, forgetting the president and the courts for the moment, then please take that extra prozaic you found right this minute. Some of us are concerned, outraged, and in hiding for holding such antisocial ideas. I mean if this ever gets out, we might have people thinking for themselves. And we all know where that leads, don't we?

Wasn't it independent thought that elected Harry Truman? And we all know what a lousy job he did, don't we. Bullshit! Harry Truman was probably one of the last great politicians we had. If he didn't like something he said so. Ambiguous Bill is so concerned with pleasing everybody, that if he ordered a Big Mac with ketchup and got it with mustard instead, he probably wouldn't even complain! Me, I'd take it back and get another one. I don't care if I hurt the feelings of the idiot that took my order wrong.

When the pendulum swings too far one way, the natural reaction is to have it swing 180 degrees the other way. That's not what needs to happen in this country, we just need to stop it closer to the middle. There's good and bad on both sides of any issue, if you take the time to examine it. Today people would just rather feel good and let the media tell them what to think. That's why I write these rants. Maybe somebody's eyes will be opened in some small way. If so, then I've won a small, but major, victory for the country and perhaps even the world.

Fan or hate mail, as always, to: an118926@anon.penet.fi

Random

Thoughts

Who was Casper before he died? How did he die? Why was a dead child the main character of a popular children's cartoon?

I just saw in the newspaper that they are going to colorize the old Little Rascals films. My first thought was, what do they do with Buckwheat. Isn't he already a person of color? Are they going to make him blacker?

Where are Jesse Jackson and Louis Farakahn going to stand on the re-releasing of the Little Rascals films?

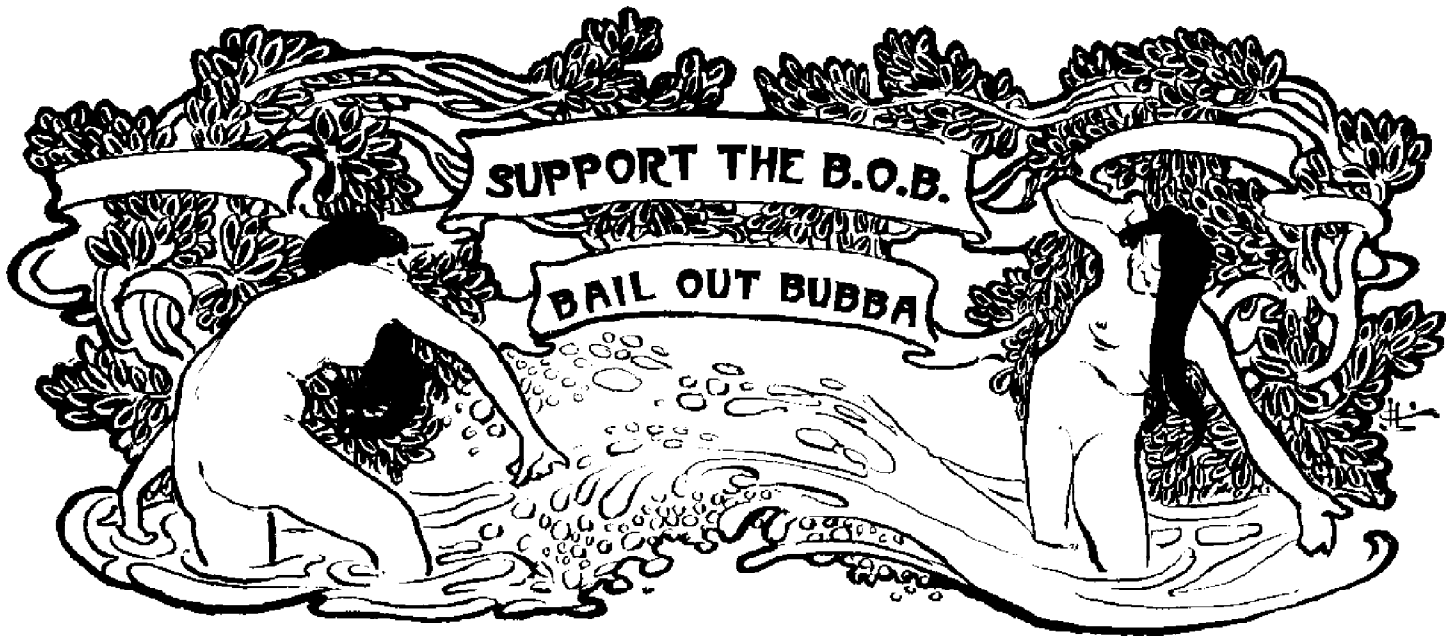

Why is Bill Clinton so upset over Jerry Falwell's tape accusing him in an offhanded way of being an accessory to murder? I mean aren't the profits from the sales of the tape somehow taxable? Aren't they at least charging state sales tax? Besides, look how many people they employ just copying and shipping the tapes...

From the cheap shot department (like a lot of this stuff isn't anyway ☹): On Bill and Hillary's wedding night, did they play The Cars tune, "You're all I've got tonight?"

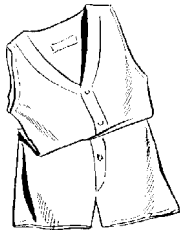

I just saw that some idiot in Hollywood is redoing the Little Rascals into a feature length movie. What marketing genius thought this great idea up? Don't they have anybody writing original scripts in Hollywood anymore?

There would be more random thoughts in this issue, but I haven't spent that many sleepless nights lately...

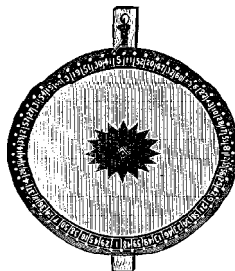

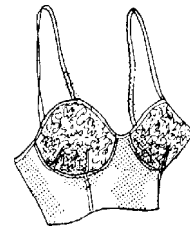

Here at Zen Anarchy we stand behind our public officials in time of crisis. Therefore we are offering the following commemorative presidential items to help Bill and Hillary Clinton defray their legal costs. These items are available for a limited time only, so order today!

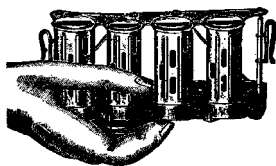

Matched set of Bill Clinton's underwear only $3.00 per piece. That's all Hillary ever took for a tax deduction so we can't get more than that can we?
Order # TX-300

Actual replica of gaming wheel used to choose Governor's girlfriend for the evening.
Order # R-U-LUCKY-2-NITE

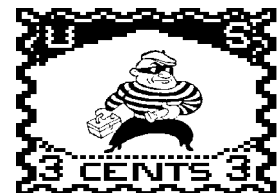

One of the few remaining Arkansas brassieres untouched by Bill Clinton's hands.
Order # VRGN-CUP

One of many change containers used by the first lady to give her two cents on many an issue. Most of these have broken movements due to high usage.
Order # MY-2-CENTS

Genuine mismatched Governor's socks picked up off the back seat floor of Arkansas State trooper's vehicles.
Order # MIX-N-MATCH

Extremely rare! Dan Rostenkowski commemorative postage due stamp marking 30 years of fleeing the American people. Not yet issued, pending trial.
Order # WHAT-ME-WORRY?

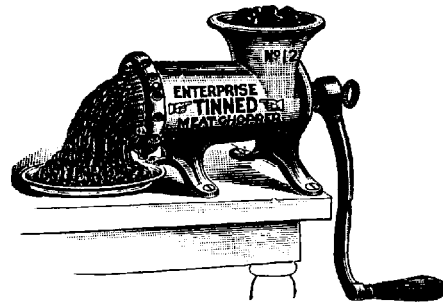

Your own personal hypodermic needle to help cut down on your health care costs. Bleach not included.
Order #: YR-OWN-HYPO

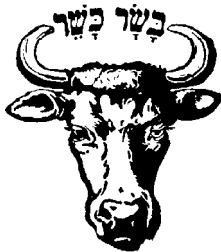

The official White House "Keep your hands out of the cookie jar" device first used by Hillary when Bill got a new secretary.
Order #: NO-WAY-OUT

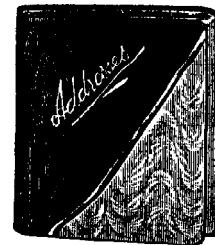

A bevy of red herrings from Whitewater Development Corporation. Pick and choose the one you want to send to the Special Investigator. Fun for the whole family!
Order #: RED-HRNG

Official replica of the meat grinder Hillary told Bill his ass would be in if he didn't stop seeing Gennifer Flowers.
Order #: GRINDER

Kosher steaks from the White House's Kosher Kitchen. Bill said that part of the White House kitchen would be kosher when he came to Washington.
Order #: KOSHER-KOW

Bill Clinton's little black book. There are limited quantities of this available, so get yours today. See if you recognize any people that now have high paying Arkansas State or government jobs.
Order #:LOTS-O-FUN

DONATE WHAT YOU CAN, UP TO $500.00 PER PERSON.
LAWYERS DON'T COME CHEAP.
ESPECIALLY TO OTHER LAWYERS...

ONLY YOU CAN HELP DEFRAY LEGAL COSTS. HELP THE B.O.B. TODAY!

WHITE HOUSE PRODUCTIONS PROUDLY PRESENTS...

TOMORROW
AT 10 A.M.

A SIGN ON THE DOOR!

Her honor at stake..... Desperate with fear.... A man
dying at her feet.
She locked in the room with him....
behind —

DO NOT DISTURB

The LOCKED DOOR"

United Artists Pulse Pounding
ALL TALKING DRAMA!

With

Hillary Clinton
Arkansas State Troopers
and Vincent Foster as "The Body"

Party Records

FOR ADULTS ONLY

Some bank was stupid enough to pre-qualify me for a Visa card, so we have more music reviews. At least until I send this piece of plastic into financial ruin...

Most of the time when I buy CD's or tapes, I find two or three tracks on the album that I like and the rest is pure shit. Well, Live's Throwing Copper changed my mind on that count. I think it's the first time in a long time that I haven't tossed 15.98 out the window on a shitty CD. This is definitely one of the best and perhaps the moodiest CD's I've found since The The's work. I can't say enough good things about it. Go buy it. Enjoy it.

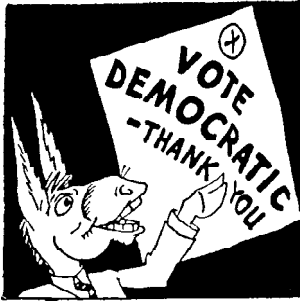

A company, whose name I'm just too lazy to go find the jewel box on right now, is packaging three CDs by artists such as Frank Sinatra, Duke Ellington, Ella Fitzgerald, and others. At $20.00 these have to be some of the best values around on the market. They don't make music like that anymore. Even Harry Connick has gone whacko with his new album.

The Go-Go's Beauty and the Beat is still one of the finest all girl band albums, and I haven't forgotten about The Runaways either. Belinda Carlyle has one of the best voices today. Of course, I wouldn't touch one of those Disney Kewpie Doll-type albums she puts out now. This was in the days when she still had a few rough edges to her. Definitely worth adding to any collection.

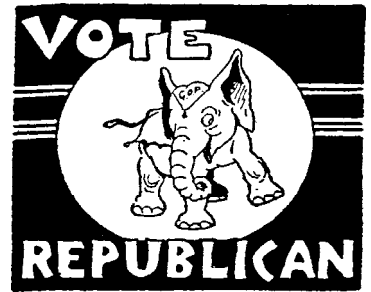

I'm sure that by now everybody and their kid brother has reviewed the new Stone Temple Pilots album. I got a copy, and on first listen, it's OK. I think that they may be like The Jam was. Their music isn't immediately accessible, but rather you have to let it kick around in the car for a while, and on a long stretch of road at night, play it in it's entirety.

Last, but not least, Rhino has a two CD set of Sparks greatest hits. If you don't know about Sparks, WHERE THE HELL HAVE YOU BEEN FOR THE LAST 15 YEARS?

CAMPAIGN '96

As you've no doubt guessed by now, I'm a conservative. That doesn't mean that I'm a devout Republican by any stretch, I just prefer to spend my money the way I see fit. Personally, I believe that both parties have been blowing smoke up our collective asses for so long, they both have lip cancer.

The following, which may or may not be updated in the future, is my analysis of the players, or possible players as the case may be, for the '96 election.

Democrats

Bill Clinton - Seems to be riding in a four engine plane with three engines out and the fourth barely holding on.

Hillary Clinton - Hitler would stand a better chance leading a sing-a-long at temple.

Al Gore - Frat boy gets promotion, new home, and allowance. Won't help his chances of convincing the public that he has what it takes.

George Mitchell - Seems to have mastered looking down his nose at people.

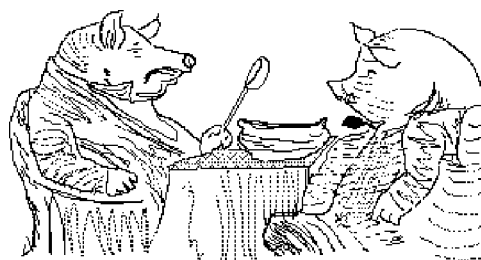

Republicans

Bob Dole - Too old to do anything except talk about when candy bars were a nickel. The personality of a warm pile of dung.

William Bennett - Nice person, one on one, I suppose, but the press will kill him on the "family values" issue.

Newt Gingrich - Interesting, but too regional. He won't play well outside the south and Midwest.

Dan Quayle - The Republican's frat boy. Quayle would have better luck trying to sign up as a golf pro somewhere, rather than continue a career in politics.

Zen's Profiles

He who shall remain nameless

Home: Cyberspace - dturner@crl.com

Dream Home: Old run down castle on Scottish Moor with internet hookup

Age: Physically, almost an X'er, mentally I should apply for social security

Profession: Keeping in and out of sociological mischief

Hobbies: You're reading it now.

Last book read: "Fear and Loathing in Las Vegas," by Hunter S. Thompson

Last accomplishment: Making one person realize that they have the potential to tell the government to go fuck itself.

Religion: Fine for some, but I'm not getting up that early on a Sunday. Sometimes, I'm just getting off the net and going to bed.

Quote: If you just convince one person of their own self worth, then an entire domino effect will hopefully spring into action. When this happens, all the fat cat bastards of both political parties will run for cover. Short of that, I'm afraid this country is primed for another revolution and I'm sure the government isn't going to let that happen...

Profile: Arrogant. Humble. Catalyst. Caffinated. De-toxed from the 70's decade. Speaks the truth when others are afraid to listen to themselves.

Zen: Zen Anarchy

Authentic. There are infinite opinions on any given issue, but few are ever lucid enough to make sense to more than the opinion holder. Zen's commitment to my thoughts, feelings, and general rantings make it one of the finest instigators available worldwide.

END PAGE

WHAT CAN I SAY, THE WORLD GETS STRANGER AND STRANGER ALL THE TIME. THANK GOD FOR THAT, RIGHT? OTHERWISE, WHAT WOULD WE FIND TO POKE FUN AT?

UNTIL NEXT TIME...

